

HOW DO I MAKE A WILL?

Many people assume that writing a Will is easy, unfortunately, a lot of mistakes are easily made and can be very costly to rectify in Court after death.

It's important to seek legal advice when you want a Will drawn up to ensure your assets go to the people you want. At First Fiduciary, one of our services is to help you prepare a Will that is valid, legal, binding and tailored for you and your beneficiaries' circumstances.

Some things you should consider:

- What assets do you have to give away?
- Who you would like to give to (your spouse, children, family members and/or a charity)?
- How much you would like to give to each beneficiary?
- Who would you appoint as the Executor and/or Trustee of your Estate? This is a crucial appointment as things can go wrong very quickly if you haven't got a capable Executor or Trustee appointed to carry out your wishes.
- Who would you like to make decisions for you if you are no longer able to?
- Who would you like to look after any minor or dependent children?

HOW DO I MAKE SURE MY WILL IS VALID, LEGAL, AND BINDING?

The best way to ensure that your Will is valid, legal, binding and tailored to your circumstances is to see a specialist Estate planning lawyer to have your Will prepared. A specialist Estate planning lawyer Will ensure that your Will is drafted in accordance with relevant legislation and check that it is also executed correctly.
